

Your trusted external partner for navigating online risks

For continual Trust & Safety team success, it is critical to monitor the darkest corners of the internet

Increased Scrutiny

Societal pressures, regulatory scrutiny, penalties, and the risk of platform reputation jeopardizing advertiser relationships on an international scale, have made the need to stay ahead of risks paramount.

Lack of Cross-Platform Visibility

Bad actors often coordinate, share, and conduct off-platform activities that put mainstream platforms at risk.

Language & Cultural Capabilities

When Trust & Safety teams do not have substantial linguistic and cultural understanding of the global locations they operate, they lack the necessary worldview of risk across their global user base.

Policy & Process Gaps

Grey areas where bad actors exploit platform policies and existing processes pose an ongoing risk to reputation and community safety.

Driving value from Network Intelligence:

When a global platform was concerned about a Violent Extremist group that was putting community members at risk, Resolver was able to identify the bad actor accounts that were contributing to 75% of harmful content. Eliminating these accounts could allow the platform to accurately collapse the conversation.
